Laurence
Dear Mr. Scot:

The Department of Business Services wishes to express its gratitude to you for the superb presentations that you gave at the "Getting Down To Business" Conference held on April 24, 1999.

Many of the people who attend the Conference come with the hope that this event will lead them to a better life by having a business of their own. Some of the people come because their business has problems and they are looking for solutions.

The information, direction and advice that you gave this audience has enormous value. Your education and experience qualify you as an expert in your field and your willingness to share with this group coupled with a generous contribution of your time and energy make your combination so much more valuable.

You are one of those special people who demonstrate, in many ways, that you care about New York City and we thank you for that.

Sincerely,

Barbara Wolff
Assistant Commissioner
